News from the Board:

The board met January 9, 2017, for a very productive session. Board Chair Barb Gabioud led a discussion which included reviewing board member notebooks, the Fellowship Coordinator's job description, current lists of all committees and chairs, tax exempt numbers for purchases at Walmart and Foxworth, the perpetual calendar, door code access, purchase of a booth canopy and possible future vision/mission/covenant discussions to be held with Claudia Elferdink.

New business included discussion of recent attendance by young families and preparation of a religious education program for the children. Caron Morrison will be Family Programs Coordinator, acting as a liaison with families and the Program Committee for monthly participation and child care. The Board is looking for an at large board member, a Social Justice Chair and more committee members for the Membership Committee.

The next Board meeting will be held February 19, 2017, at UUFSC after the morning program. All interested members and friends are welcome to attend.

Smells and Bells Workshop Feb 4, 2017

Blessing oils have been used in a number of spiritual traditions – Hindu, Zoroastrian, Buddhist, Jewish, Christian, Pagan....“..anoint my head with oil, my cup runneth over”

In this 90 minute workshop we will discuss some of these traditions of blessing with scented oils. We will use pure organic olive oil and some essential oils (e.g. frankincense, balsam) to create our own small bottle of oil for blessing. Then we will charge them with sounds and bells, and be on our way with a small bottle for our own personal use.

We will hold two sessions of the same workshop, to make it easier for schedules, and to be able to have smaller groups. Please sign up so we know how many supplies to bring. Sign up for one time slot only.

When: Feb 4, 2017 - 10am-11:30am OR 1:00pm - 2:30pm - Where: UU Fellowship 3845 N Swan
